Toroki Announces Appointment of Industry Veteran

*Embedded Software Executive Adds
Experience and Depth to Management Team*

San Jose, CA (October 29, 2007) Toroki, a leading provider of engineering services to Network Equipment Manufacturers, announced today the appointment of embedded software industry veteran, Curt Schacker, to the role of President. Schacker joins Toroki from Embedded Solution Partners, a company he co-founded; he previously served as Vice President of Worldwide Marketing at Wind River Systems.

"I'm thrilled to add Curt to the executive team," said Amir Fuhrmann, CEO and Founder of Toroki. "It is a tremendous vote of confidence for us to attract a leader with his credentials. His industry knowledge and experience with embedded software and services is exactly what we need as we prepare for the next phase in our growth."

Added Curt Schacker, "I have been impressed not only with the quality of the people at Toroki but also with the opportunity that stands before us. We are at a momentous time in the networking industry, and I believe Toroki is uniquely positioned to help drive positive change. I'm looking forward to an exciting challenge and a rewarding experience."

Schacker will be responsible for all business operations, including Sales, Marketing, and Business Development.
